

Lagos-based cloud infrastructure and web hosting provider, HoganHost, has expanded its presence in Nigeria's technology sector following its acquisition of ZuumHost and the securing of nine international domain accreditations, while also earning the Web Hosting Company of the Year (People's Choice) award at the 6th Eko Heritage Awards.

The award was presented during the 6th Eko Heritage Awards held on Saturday, July 25, 2026, at the Lagos Oriental Hotel, Victoria Island, Lagos. HoganHost emerged ahead of QServers and Harmon Web in the People's Choice category.

In a statement issued on Sunday, the company's Chief Executive Officer, Joseph Hogan, said the recognition reflects customers' confidence in the company's services. He added that the recent acquisition of ZuumHost and additional domain accreditations form part of HoganHost's expansion strategy across Africa.

Founded by Joseph Hogan and Atim Hogan, HoganHost provides web hosting, cloud hosting, dedicated servers, domain registration and enterprise digital infrastructure services to businesses and organisations.
