

The Lagos State Security Trust Fund (LSSTF) has made a donation of five refurbished operational vehicles, ballistic helmets, bulletproof vests and raincoats to the Nigerian Air Force (NAF), 651 Base Services Group, forming a part of the state government's commitment to equipping security agencies to tackle security challenges and sustain peace across the state.

The Executive Secretary/Chief Executive Officer of LSSTF, Dr Ayodele Ogunsan, asserted that the donation forms part of the Trust Fund's plan to ensure frontline security personnel are properly equipped to carry out their duties safely and effectively.

He commended the force for their efficiency and contributions to the safety of the state and country at large, reiterating the state's unwavering dedication investing in the welfare of security personnel

"We will continue to encourage and support you by providing the resources needed to boost your morale and enhance your performance. This is only the beginning, and we look forward to doing even more to strengthen our partnership," he said.

Meanwhile, the Commander of the Nigerian Air Force, 651 Base Services Group, Air Commodore Mohammed A. Imam, who received the donation on behalf of the Force thanked the state government and the LSSTF for their unyielding support.

He highlighted the partnership between the state and security agencies, highlighting that the donated equipment will promote the safety and operational capability of the personnel of the Force deployed across Lagos.
